BBKR is a non-profit rescue society that relies solely on adoption fees, volunteer fundraising, donations, and government grants to operate and continue to provide animal care. The budget summary and projected budget both vary depending on the community need, fosters and volunteers able to help, fundraising efforts, and vet care required for cats and kittens brought into the rescue. In this summary we hope to provide a general financial picture of where the finances are distributed, as well as highlight our need and appreciation for all community and government grants that allow us to continue to conduct this important work in our community.
